THE BENEFITS OF PRE-PLANNING

Although planning your final arrangements can be hard to think about, pre-planning gives you the benefit of controlling the details and making sure you are remembered exactly how you want. Our Pre-planning Advisors will help answer all your questions, weigh your options and take you through every step of the process.

WHY PRE-PLAN?

Alleviate the burden on family and friends.

When somebody passes away without pre-arranging their cemetery and funeral services, their loved ones can be left with tough decisions and a great deal of uncertainty during an already difficult time. By pre-planning, you will make your wishes known, provide direction to the executor of your estate, and avoid any important decisions being influenced by grief or other emotions.

Take time to make an informed decision.

Planning ahead can be very comforting because it gives you the opportunity to make an informed decision about your funeral and cemetery services and the form of memorial you prefer. With time on your side, you can relax and give real thought to the details of your arrangements.

Protection from rising costs due to inflation.

Pre-planning allows you to purchase your services at today's prices, free from inflationary pressures in the future. You will also gain peace of mind knowing that your family and friends will be relieved of the financial burden often associated with making arrangements when a death occurs.

Guaranteed Contracts and Cancellation Privileges

Your payment(s) go into our Pre-Need Trust Fund, and you will receive a contract outlining the terms and conditions of your purchase and your cancellation privileges. All of the terms and conditions will be fully explained to you by one of our helpful professionals.

TALKING TO LOVED ONES ABOUT PRE-PLANNING

If you are reading this information with a loved one in mind, you might be wondering how to broach the subject of pre-planning their final arrangements. An open conversation can bring tremendous peace of mind on all sides, so here are some scenarios that can help start an honest discussion with your loved one.

A loved one asks you to be an executor of his or her will.

This is one of the most natural opportunities to introduce the subject of his or her final arrangements.

Your loved one brings up the topic on his or her own.

This is not unusual, especially if your loved one has recently experienced the death of someone they care about. The important thing is to listen and encourage their need to talk about their feelings and wishes.

Your loved one is seriously ill.

In this situation, you may feel as though talking about final arrangements is the equivalent of giving up hope. Therefore, approach the discussion in the context of ensuring your loved one's last wishes are fulfilled should death occur.

The subject comes up naturally.

If you are visiting a cemetery, for example, this can be the appropriate occasion to ask your loved one about his or her wishes.

Discuss your own arrangements.

This will make the conversation more of a sharing experience and will help your loved one feel more at ease.

Everyone benefits from pre-planning.

There are many decisions to be made, and an honest discussion is the first step in making final arrangements that truly celebrate your loved one's life the way he/she would have wanted.

WHEN A DEATH OCCURS

When a death occurs, having an idea of what to expect will help you stay calm and keep from getting overwhelmed. The following will provide a guideline of what you will have to consider when a death occurs.

If you are at home when an unexpected death occurs, the first thing you should do is dial 911. Emergency Services will be dispatched. You may contact a funeral home to make arrangements to transfer your loved one. If it is decided that an autopsy is required, the deceased will be taken to the coroner's facility before they can be transferred to the funeral home. The timing of the release of the body from the coroner to funeral home will be discussed with you.

If the death occurs at a hospital or nursing home, you can contact a funeral home to arrange to transfer your loved one.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?

Notification

The deceased's relatives, friends and employer should be notified. If the deceased was an active member of a religious community, his or her spiritual leader should also be alerted. The clergy can be a source of great comfort during this difficult period.

Cemetery Arrangements

If cemetery arrangements have been pre-planned, contact the cemetery right away, then advise your funeral home. They will need to know the name of the cemetery where the arrangement was made, what type of service you want, and the location of interment rights, found on the Interment Rights Certificate.

If cemetery arrangements have not been made, the next steps will be to choose a cemetery, decide how much you want to spend, select ground burial, entombment or cremation, and determine the details of the memorial.

Funeral Arrangements

If the funeral has been pre-planned, contact the funeral home handling the arrangements. If you have not already chosen a funeral home, contact your preferred cemetery to learn about the funeral home options in your area. If you have not selected a cemetery, the knowledgeable professionals at any of our ten cemeteries would be happy to assist you.

The Information Needed to Make Arrangements

In order to make cemetery arrangements, you will need the deceased's full name, full address, date and place of death, date and place of birth and full name of the next of kin. Your funeral provider will also need the deceased's Social Insurance Number for the Statement of Death.

Financial Considerations

You don't want to be thinking about money during such an emotional time, but some things must be taken care of, such as interment rights and cemetery service fees. If financial assistance is required, we can inform you of some organizations that can help.

OUR PRE-PLANNING ADVISORS

Our multilingual, multicultural Pre-planning Advisors are here to make things easy for you and will work with you to plan your final arrangements exactly the way you want them. Knowledgeable, honest and open, they can answer all your questions and take you through every step of the pre-planning process according to your own comfort level.

You can make an appointment with a Pre-planning Advisor by contacting the cemetery office near you or by visiting the Pre-planning Advisors section of our website at mountpleasantgroup.com. We would be happy to meet with you in our offices, or if you are unable to come to us, one of our Pre-planning Advisors will come to you.

YOUR COMMEMORATIVE OPTIONS

The number of ways to make your final arrangements is as limitless as your imagination. Your personal needs and preferences are always taken into account, whether they are religious, traditional or financial. Across our ten cemeteries, we have a full range of burial options, facilities and products to accommodate your commemorative needs. Even if you are not sure what form of commemoration you prefer, we will be happy to assist you. From cremation to entombment, from memorial services to traditional markers, the decisions are all yours and we will work with you every step of the way to make your choices as easy as possible. The following sections outline the many options available to you.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Memorial services help us give testimony to the life of the deceased, and are a meaningful way to express our feelings about the loss of a loved one. Memorial services can be held in a place of worship, at one of our funeral centres, at a funeral home, or at another location that holds special meaning for you and your family. With Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries, you have the opportunity to work with an advisor who will help to create a service that truly reflects a life lived, no matter how simple or elaborate.

FUNERAL CENTRES

When our first funeral centre was opened at Pine Hills Cemetery in 1999, it was the first time in Toronto that a single facility could hold a visitation, a funeral, cremation or memorial service, an interment or burial, and a reception all in one beautiful setting. Since then, Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries has opened funeral centres at York Cemetery, Elgin Mills Cemetery, Meadowvale Cemetery, Mount Pleasant Cemetery and Thornton Cemetery, each with their own unique features.

At Your Convenience

Our modern state-of-the-art facilities provide a bright and spacious atmosphere where family and friends can gather to remember their loved one. All of our funeral centres can be individually customized around your final wishes—however traditional or contemporary. Our helpful professionals are available at any time to give you a tour of the facilities and help you create a beautiful and meaningful tribute.

GROUND BURIAL

Interment, more commonly known as ground burial, is still the most common of all cemetery services. There are a variety of options available to you when you choose ground burial. In most cases a single grave or lot can accommodate either two casket burials or cremations. Interment rights are available in various sizes of graves which can allow for flat memorials or lots which accommodate upright monuments.

MEMORIALS

When you choose ground burial, we can help you create a memorial that celebrates a life and serves as a record for future generations. The most common memorials are upright granite monuments or flat markers of bronze or granite set flush with the ground. The options available are vast and the possibilities for personal expression are endless. Additional products such as vases and photoceramics are also available to complement the memorial.

No matter what approach you want to take, our advisors and artisans will help create a memorial tribute of enduring beauty that best reflects the person being remembered.

Granite-Fronted Cremation Niches

CREMATION

Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries established Ontario's first crematorium in 1933 and we have a continuing tradition of providing options to those who choose cremation. All of our cemeteries provide innovative options in beautiful settings dedicated to the memorialization of cremated remains. Cremation is becoming an increasingly popular option, and if you are considering it, the following sections will help answer your questions and give you an idea of all the unique cremation memorials that are available to you.

WHAT IS CREMATION?

Cremation is simply one method of preparing a loved one for memorialization. In a cremation, the casket is placed in a chamber where the temperature is raised to extremely high temperatures. After approximately 90 minutes, all organic matter is consumed, leaving behind bone fragments, known as cremated remains or more commonly as ashes. The ashes are then processed into finer particles and placed in a temporary container or an urn provided by the family.

Ashes can be buried in a cremation grave or lot, placed in a niche above ground, buried in a family grave or lot where space and cemetery by-laws permit or, if you are not ready to make a decision regarding a final resting place at this time, the ashes can be taken home. Some individuals request to have their loved one's ashes scattered in a meaningful place. Our advisors will take the time to help you understand all your options.

ADVANTAGES OF CREMATION

Cremation is popular for many different reasons, including environmental concerns, religious reasons, and simplicity. One benefit to cremation is the increased flexibility it provides you, with respect to the timing of your funeral and cemetery arrangements. You might, for example, choose to have a funeral service before the cremation; a memorial service at the time of cremation or after the cremation with the urn present; or a committal service at the final disposition of the cremated remains. Additionally, we have become a much more mobile society and often families are spread distances apart. Cremation allows the ashes to be split among family members in keepsake urns and jewellery so their loved one can be with them, wherever they live.

CREMATION WITNESSING

Cremation witnessing is another way to say a final goodbye to a loved one prior to the cremation. It feels a lot like a memorial service or graveside service.

At our cremation centres, family and friends can gather in the bright, well-lit, modern and comfortable witnessing rooms. There, the casket is placed on a special lift in front of the cremator doors. If the family wishes, they can ask a faith leader, celebrant or officiant to share a few comforting words with the group and then, at the appropriate time, a button is pressed by a designated family member or one of our staff, automatically opening the doors and gently pushing the casket directly into the cremation enclosure, where the cremation process begins.

The benefits of witnessing are largely personal. For some people, being present when the casket takes its final journey into the cremation enclosure is comforting or may be part of their traditions. For others, it may demystify something that they weren't able to be part of in the past. But until recently, North American crematoriums weren't suited to accommodate witnessing. Most are old, cramped and very hot. We have upgraded all of our crematoriums with state-of-the-art equipment and entirely new, welcoming environments that completely transform the experience. Now families and friends can witness cremation in a dignified space in comfort.

MEMORIALIZATION AFTER CREMATION

The Urn of Your Choice

We offer a variety of urns covering a wide range of styles, sizes and prices. Some commonly chosen options include urns made from wood, bronze, marble, ceramic, or glass. Our advisors will be happy to show you a vast array of available choices.

Cremation Graves

Cremation graves and lots are available for those who have chosen cremation, and prefer the elegance of traditional ground burial. Cremation graves will accommodate up to two urns. Memorial options available include a marker set flush with the ground, or an upright monument.

Urn Entombment

A niche is a recessed compartment designed for the permanent placement of urns. Single niches for one cremation urn, double niches for two urns side-by-side, and family niches for up to four are all available.

An arrangement of niches is called a columbarium and some columbariums are located in a gathering hall or mausoleum, while others are located outdoors, in picturesque settings. Following an urn entombment, a niche front of granite, marble, bronze, wood or glass is attached. For a more personal memorial, glass-fronted niches allow small tokens or pictures to be placed alongside the displayed urns and remain visible. Not all types of niches are available in all columbariums, so please check with the cemetery office for availability.

ENTOMBMENT

Many people think that mausoleum entombment is only for the wealthy who have a private family mausoleum. The truth is that community mausolea—like the ones at Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries—make mausoleum entombment a convenient option available to everyone.

What is Entombment?

Entombment is the interment of human remains in a tomb or crypt, and is sometimes referred to as above-ground burial. It involves placing a casket in an individual compartment, or crypt, within a mausoleum. The crypt is then sealed and a granite or marble front is attached.

There are a number of meaningful ways to celebrate a life through memorials when entombment is chosen. The crypt front allows for personal inscriptions, as well as the placement of other personal touches and meaningful items, including photographs, emblems and memorial lights.

What is a Mausoleum?

A mausoleum is a building that provides above-ground burial space or entombment for a number of different people. It may be a private family mausoleum, or a community one shared by unrelated people. Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries currently operates several unique mausolea across different cemeteries.

What are Crypts?

Crypts are individual compartments designed to hold casketed remains. Single crypts are designed for one entombment. We also offer two types of double crypts—tandem crypts which permit two entombments lengthwise, and companion crypts for two entombments side-by-side or one above the other. Our community mausolea are typically built five crypts high on each floor. Indoor crypts have marble fronts, and outdoor crypts have granite fronts. Most of our mausolea offer a wide selection of crypts, priced to meet all wishes.

ASSOCIATED PRODUCTS & SERVICES

Whether you live far away, or can't visit the grave often enough, or simply want to know that the grave is always well-kept and tidy, we offer special services for tending to a grave. From maintenance to the placing of wreaths to planting, here's what we offer:

Special Care Program

As an option for those desiring that extra touch, our seasonal Special Care Program provides individualized attention to your grave or lot beyond the general care and maintenance provided to the overall cemetery. You can ensure the neat appearance of the grass and the care of flowerbeds at an additional annual cost. This service is offered from June 1st to August 31st each year.

Flowerbed Program

This service is for those who find comfort in the beauty of flowers and a simple touch of colour is all that's needed to a grave or lot. For an additional cost, we will plant vibrant begonias at the grave for you to enjoy gorgeous blooms all season. You can contact the cemetery directly for costs and details. This service is offered from June 1st to August 31st each year.

Wreaths

Wreaths are a meaningful way to pay tribute to the deceased. We offer a variety of memorial wreaths and monument saddles throughout the year. While memorial wreaths can only be placed from November through March, monument saddles which are designed to be mounted on top of upright monuments, are permitted all year long. All wreaths purchased from Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries include a complimentary wreath stand and set-up service.

In addition to the products and services already detailed, we also offer the following items to create special remembrances and give that added, personal touch to any service.

Vaults

Casket and urn vaults provide an added layer of protection against exterior elements for the casket or urn. There is a wide range of vaults, with various degrees of reinforcement and design features.

Keepsakes

There are a variety of keepsake options that can help you feel continually connected to a departed loved one, and preserve their memory in a more physical way. You may wish to store a small amount of cremated remains or a lock of hair within a piece of keepsake jewellery, a small keepsake urn, or even a plush teddy bear. We can help you find just the right keepsake to memorialize and keep a loved one close to heart.

INTERMENT RIGHTS

Your cemetery options are many and varied, but no matter what decisions you make, you need to purchase interment rights. Purchasing interment rights is what allows you to specify who may be buried or entombed in the space, rather than purchasing the grave/lot/cremation, grave/crypt or niche itself, which remains the property of the cemetery. Interment rights include the right to place a memorial where permitted.

Care and Maintenance

As prescribed by Ontario legislation, a portion of the price of interment rights is contributed to the Care and Maintenance Fund. The income generated by the Fund is used to ensure the regular care and maintenance of the cemetery grounds is maintained in perpetuity.

DUFFIN MEADOWS CEMETERY

Duffin Meadows is the newest of the Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries, but its heritage and historic location underscore much of Durham's rich pioneer past. Serving Ajax, Pickering and Scarborough since 1993, and conveniently located just 15 minutes east of Toronto, the site boasts natural valleys, ponds, rolling meadows and mature trees that will form the basis of many attractive features as the cemetery develops over the coming years.

A Picturesque Environment Now and Forever

Duffin Meadows was originally a farm, dating back to the late 1800s, and the traditional rural character of the area influences the development of these grounds. The original farmhouse has even been renovated and serves as the cemetery office. To date, only a portion of Duffin Meadows' 80-acre site has been developed, but future expansion will see this unique property's country flavour faithfully incorporated into innovative burial, cremation and memorialization options.

Your Options

There is a wide selection of ground burial options, including single graves and larger lots, both of which can be marked with a flat memorial or upright monument. A range of cremation lots and niches is available for those who choose cremation, including granite-fronted niches in columbaria surrounded by lovely rose gardens and beautiful landscaping. A stunning cemetery within a cemetery, the Garden of Remembrance at Duffin Meadows also offers a variety of interment options in exquisite settings for those choosing cremation.

Serving the Community

Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries has a tradition of creating unique feature areas to serve the needs of all cultures and faiths. In 2002, Duffin Meadows added a section designed specifically to meet the needs of the Chinese community. Duffin Meadows also has a veterans' section providing a lovely setting for the burial of Canadian and Allied veterans and their spouses.

Natural Burial Section

Located between Sections 15 and 16 at Duffin Meadows, it is the second Natural Burial Section offered by Mount Pleasant Group of Cemeteries, the first such section is offered at our Meadowvale Cemetery location in Brampton. Designed to let nature take its course, promote a “tread-free” mind-set and encourage people to refrain from walking on the graves, the plants and grasses in these burial grounds are left to grow freely.

Groups of niches that accommodate urns are also found here, and feature colourful combinations of granite fronts. The treed area that surrounds the Eternal Gardens is aptly named the Memorial Lawns, and features cremation lots permitting upright granite monuments. Secluded niches with bronze and granite fronts overlook the large and peaceful Pond of Reflection.

PROSPECT CEMETERY

Known as “The Cemetery on St. Clair,” Prospect Cemetery has been providing caring service to the western portion of the City of Toronto since 1890. It is home to exquisite works by Canadian artists, and special memorial features include the uniquely beautiful Lights of the Madonna.

Art and Atmosphere

Over the years, the property’s wonderful natural features have been incorporated into the landscaping, making Prospect a peaceful green space. It also features distinctive pieces of art, including the veterans’ section’s cruciform “Cross of Sacrifice” by architect Sir Edwin Lutyens, and the court mausoleum’s stained glass art by Canadian artist Mimi Gellman.

Your Options

Prospect Cemetery includes several mausolea and offers a full range of services. If ground burial is your preference, please check with our office about current availability. For those who choose cremation, Prospect offers a range of possibilities such as cremation graves, lovely glass-fronted niches in the St. Clair Mausoleum, marble-fronted niches in the Hall of Niches, and granite-fronted niches in the Mausoleum of the Last Supper. Prospect also offers the unique Lights of the Madonna, a granite feature located at the entrance to Prospect Court Mausoleum. It features an elegant statue of Madonna and Child, and decorative illuminated lights with an inscription engraved on the plaque below. Photoceramic portraits are also an option with the Lights of the Madonna memorial.

Mausoleum of the Last Supper

Just inside the St. Clair entrance of Prospect Cemetery, on the left, is the Mausoleum of the Last Supper. Originally an outdoor structure called Prospect Court Mausoleum, most of the original structure has been entirely enclosed and converted into an indoor, climate controlled mausoleum with close to 1,200 additional crypts. Renamed the Mausoleum of the Last Supper, new white marble-fronted crypts and glass-fronted niches have been added, blending beautifully with the original red granite-fronted crypts. Carpeted throughout, the entire mausoleum is warm and welcoming with lots of natural lighting throughout.

THORNTON CEMETERY

Thornton Cemetery has been serving the city of Oshawa, the town of Whitby and neighbouring communities since 1984. The natural park-like setting at Thornton offers a peaceful final resting place, adorned with large flowerbeds, and a tranquil pond.

Scenic Surroundings

The open green space at Thornton Cemetery creates a pastoral atmosphere that works in harmony with the surrounding environment. The site's ongoing development is dedicated to preserving the natural character and beauty of the landscape for years to come.

Unique Architecture

The architecture and building materials of the cemetery's office, chapel, mausoleum, funeral centre and cremation centre reflect the rural and religious buildings of Oshawa's history. The warm red brick of the buildings, for example, is found in many of the farm homes of the surrounding countryside, and the main space for memorial services features stained-glass works of art.

Your Options

Thornton Cemetery includes a wide selection of burial arrangements. For those choosing cremation, cremated remains may be buried in a cremation grave or placed in a niche. Options include wood or glass-fronted niches in our indoor chapel columbaria, as well as an assortment of outdoor columbaria with granite-fronted niches. Thornton also has cremation graves adjacent to walls upon which a bronze marker can be placed, and another granite columbarium with overhead trellises, where colourful flower baskets hang in the summer. If desired, cremated remains can also be scattered in the cremation ossuary.

The veterans' section at Thornton, dedicated to Canadian and Allied veterans and their spouses, is distinguished by a memorial in the form of a beautiful polished granite pyramid set atop a base of rough-hewn granite.

Funeral Centre

Our newest funeral centre brings the possibility of visitation, funeral, cremation, interment or memorial service and reception together in one stunning building. The chateaux-style centre's timeless design provides an abundance of natural light, a gathering hall which can accommodate intimate to large gatherings and versatile rooms which can be configured or expanded to serve as visitation, service and reception areas. The efficient layout of the facility at Thornton allows families the ability to seamlessly move from funeral service to cremation without leaving the building.

Cremation Centre

Thornton Cremation Centre features a beautiful on-site chapel with stained-glass windows by Canadian artist Mimi Gellman. After a major renovation in 2017, the cremation centre is now outfitted with the most technologically advanced cremation equipment, complete with an abatement system that is virtually emission-free, and a beautifully designed witnessing room, all allowing the convenience of both holding a service and having the cremation take place in the same building.

TORONTO NECROPOLIS CEMETERY

Characterized by breathtaking natural vistas and distinctive architecture, the Toronto Necropolis Cemetery is one of the city's oldest and most historic cemeteries, providing service since 1850.

A Historic Site

The Necropolis is the final resting place of many prominent individuals, including Toronto's first mayor, William Lyon Mackenzie, journalist George Brown, John Ross Robertson, founder of the Toronto Telegram newspaper, and former NDP leader Jack Layton. Also buried here are Anderson Ruffin Abbot, the first Canadian-born black surgeon, and world champion oarsman Ned Hanlan. Notable is the monument to honour Samuel Lount and Peter Matthews, hanged in 1838 for their roles in the Mackenzie Rebellion.

Art and Architecture

The recently restored porte-cochère entrance and chapel are some of Toronto's finest examples of High Victorian Gothic architecture. Beautiful stained-glass windows grace the interior of the chapel, making it a popular choice for services. Our cremation scattering area features a wonderful sculpture by Canadian artist Juliet Jancso. The work depicts a family of three and represents the Depression-era Cabbagetown community. "Onward," a sculpture in polished black granite by Canadian artist Kosso Eloul, forms a central feature for cremation graves in another special area of the cemetery.

Your Options

For those interested in ground burial, there is still limited space available at the Necropolis. Please check with our office for availability. If cremation is your preference, there are cremation lot areas as well as the marble-fronted niches in our chapel columbarium. Cremated remains can also be scattered in our memorial scattering area, located in the perennial flowerbed and rose garden.

Solar and Geothermal
Columbarium

Solar and Geothermal Powered Columbarium

Opened in 2011, we are pleased to feature Canada's first solar and geothermal powered niche columbarium in the Garden of Remembrance. The building leverages underground temperatures that remain constant year-round with the use of a buried "earth loop."

- Throughout the winter, fluid circulating through the loop absorbs stored heat and carries it indoors, where an indoor heat pump compresses it to a higher temperature and distributes it throughout the building. The process is reversed in the summer. The columbarium also uses solar energy, gathered by roof-mounted solar panels, to generate electric power to operate the heat pump unit's fan, compressor and pump, as well as the building's lighting and other electrical features. The columbarium features granite-fronted niches on the outside of the building, and glass-fronted ones indoors.
